Testing Plocher E-Smog Products

My investigations concentrated mainly on the effects of the geopathic stress. It can be the person concerned, who carries the pathogenic zones, on which it eg sleeps. The negative influence on the condition, which it applies to eliminate, is crucial. The test methods of the new homoeopathic consider the individual sensitivity of the concerning opposite the most different interference factors.

Result

The Plocher Harmoniser works in the radius of circa 12m around its position. We recommend a gradual introduction because withdrawal symptoms can occur. Acclimatising can take up to three weeks.

Place the Plocher Harmoniser centrally in the basement. Where there is no cellar, select a place on the ground floor, below the height of your bed, but not directly under the bed.

It works satisfactorily in inconspicuous places.

It is very important to drink 2-3 litres of water daily during in the introductory phase. Juice and fizzy drinks are not suitable!

THE EFFECTS OF THE PLOCHER HARMONISER PROVED VERY RELIABLE

In a few cases, there were no initial positive results, but after careful investigations it was proved there was a mixed load of electro-smog. Here the Plocher E-Smog Angle could be incorporated.

To summarise, the Plocher Harmoniser, in most cases "wildly" changes sleep needs. It creates a pleasant, harmonious, relaxed atmosphere, whose effect extends throughout whole area (12m).

However, it can be unsuitable for some people, and people with medical conditions should seek advise.

Investigations into the Plocher E-Smog Angle and Plocher E-Pendants are based on new homeopathy methods (Erich Koerbler). Additionally I examined cases using Surrogattest (Sensitive Radionik) measured values of well-known physical dimensions were not consulted, since the actual impairments of living systems have little force of expression in my opinion. So-called limit values, which are determined and changed depending upon need, have already been discussed here.

My attention was directed by the increasing, involuntary irradiation and the associated negative features strengthened on this treatment area. Many people who were tested by me, exhibited strong loads of electro-smog. I undertook a blind test: I pressed clay samples into the hand of people involved in the trial, and tested them. Immediately they suffered no more electro-smog stress. I tested over several months different constellations, with E-Smog Angle at the electrical inlet, and with E-Pendants in the proximity of the person, then again without.

This showed that direct skin contact brought the best results with the E-Pendant. It seems that electro-smog exhibits a substantially more persistent effect than geopathic disturbances. A reliable protective effect was always ensured only with direct skin contact.

I could not determine a spatial effect with the E-Pendant as was possible with the Harmoniser. I can say that the E-Pendant offers a large personal protection from unwanted electromagnetic loads with body contact. Wearing time depends on the duration and strength of the loads and is individually different.

The E-Smog Angle, which is attached at the main electrical wire, harmonises the radiation of all devices, which are connected with house electricity mains. Microwave devices and cordless telephones cannot be brought into the bio-energetically compatible range.

The effect way of these PLOCHER products can also be measured by other bio-energetic tests such as kinesiology or electro-acupuncture.

NOTE FOR PLACEMENT:

The effective range doubles itself with a water vein in direction of flow. That means for example, with a water vein which flows northwards, the positive polarisation and the 10,000 Bovis units of the water vein remain within an area of approximately 60m from the Plocher Harmoniser in a northerly direction.
